Council moves to hold down costs

Private trash collection ok'd

By Lynne Locke

Upland City Council Monday night approved private trash collection in an effort to hold down the costs of collecting refuse from Upland homes and businesses.

Mayor pro tem John McCarthy commented, "The quality of service is not a question. It's a matter of economics. It was very obvious (during last year's budget process) we didn't have the money" for new equipment and an additional dumpsite that would be required if Upland continued city collection of refuse.

A city staff report indicated purchase of the necessary digger - compactor equipment would cost $176,000 and an additional dump site, at an estimated $300,000 - $325,000, would be necessary within three years.

The council had requested a study of cost of the city using smaller crews compared with private collection. The five-year savings with smaller crews amounted to about $300,000 in comparison to $600,000 saved through private collection.

Council members found private collection to be the inescapable answer and authorized a five-year contract with C. V. Disposal of Santa Fe Springs, which has guaranteed employment to the 17-18 city employees who would be affected by Upland's termination of city collection.

Push cart race set in Upland

Upland Recreation Department will hold "The Great Push Cart Race" and "New Games Day" April 15 at Upland Memorial Park.

Friday is the deadline to register for the push cart race which begins 11 a.m. April 15. Four-member push cart teams will compete in three age divisions: second-sixth graders, seventh-eighth graders, and ninth-12th graders. Awards will be presented to the first three teams in each division.

The four-member teams include a driver and three pushers who will switch off at various points, similar to a relay race.

Carts must be homemade. Commercial frames are not allowed. Carts must be pushed from the side or rear and must have steering devices. There is no size or wheel limit. Skateboards and power-driven vehicles are prohibited.

Participants must have a "general release from liability" form signed by a parent or guardian. Registration fee is $2 per team. Registration and liability forms are available at the Recreation Department, 404 N. Second Ave.

The push cart race will be followed by New Games noon-4 p.m. The free event features games which are safe but fun and emphasize cooperation rather than competition.

New games include Tweezly Whop, hug tag, American Eagle, hunkerauser, boffers and the six-foot earthball which was a favorite event at Upland's first New Games Day. New Games are open to all ages. For information call the Recreation Department, 985-0994.

Councilman Hal Bailin stipulated the company's performance bond be set at $100,000 and the contract bind C. V. Disposal's parent company to back the operation.

Council members Bailin and Ina Petokas commented on their concern over changing from an acceptable service to an unknown service but indicated the economics of the situation really left the council no choice but to accept private collection.

Rates will remain the same with the city retaining 20 per cent of the collection fees and paying C. V. Disposal 80 per cent. City Manager Lee Travers had said the 20 per cent savings could be used to balance Upland's budget. Other suggestions included saving the money in case Upland needs to purchase new refuse equipment to reinstate city collection.

Bailin noted the cost of private collection is not completely known so the 20 per cent savings will provide a margin until the city can determine the actual cost.

In other action Monday night the council again declined to reconsider establishment of a girls' home at the northwest corner of Euclid Avenue and Ninth Street. The use was denied at the March 15 council meeting by a 2-2 vote with McCarthy absent on city business.

Hugh Wallace, who would operate the home, appealed the council's denial on the basis that the absence of a full council has allowed a technical denial which did not necessarily reflect the council's real decision.

Wallace also noted confusion among adjacent residents about future use of the facility and submitted a 38-signature petition supporting use of the building as a home for teenage girls.

Under parliamentary procedures only members of the prevailing side of the City Council (Mayor George Gibson and Councilman Bill Bottin who voted against girls' home) could move to reconsider the girls' home.

Both Gibson and Bottin declined to reopen the issue in spite of McCarthy's desire to learn whether residents had understood the girls' home denial would result in reinstatement of the mentally retarded facility.

Disregarding parliamentary procedures, which the City Council has never officially adopted, Bailin moved to set a public hearing to reconsider the girls' home but the action became useless when Wallace revealed he had to have an immediate decision in order to obtain funding for the girls' home.

City Attorney Donald Maroney said the council would be required to hold a public hearing and inform affected residents before the denial could be reversed.

Since such a public hearing could not be held in time for Wallace to secure funding, the council decided to drop the matter.

Also Monday night Bottin suggested the council reconsider an old plan to establish a municipal golf course adjacent to the Cable Airport clear zone.

The council has approved a conditional use permit for a residential development on the property proposed for the golf course, but Maroney said the council could revoke the permit if it acted before construction started.

Developer Paul Nordberg has been working on the residential development for about two years. Construction has been delayed by changes in the residential development plan, but Nordberg is almost ready to start construction.

Bottin suggested the golf course as a way for Upland to generate $100,000 profit per year and noted the City of Anaheim "makes a considerable amount of money" on its municipal golf course.

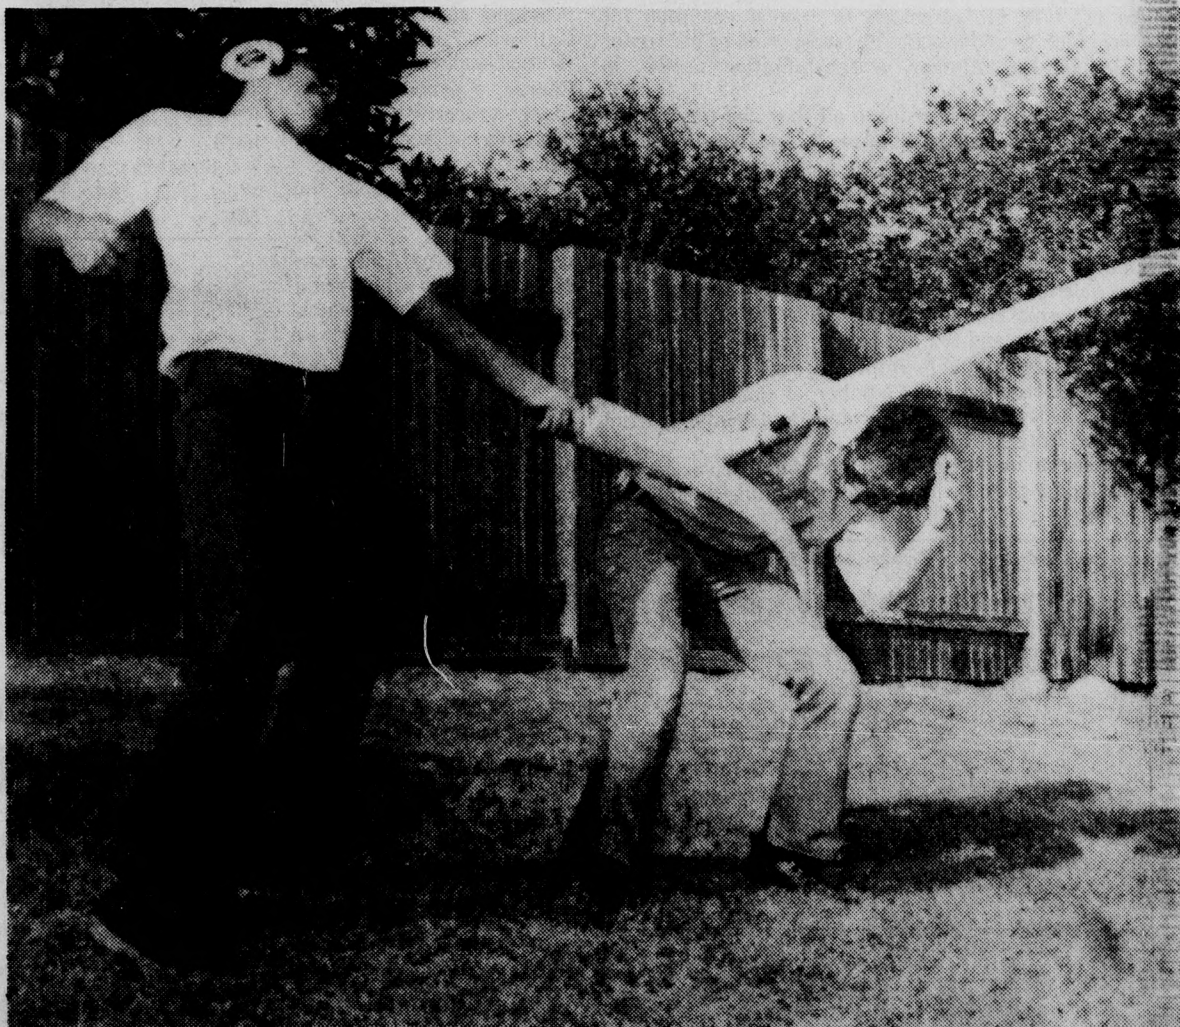

Travers said reevaluation and update of the original report would require a "fair amount of staff time" which isn't available immediately since the city staff is just beginning the yearly budget process.

The city would have no move immediately in order to complete necessary studies and investigate the availability of federal funding in order to revoke Nordberg's permit before construction starts.

The council took no action on Bottin's suggestion.

Prado park camping expected

Construction of Prado Regional Park's first phase development is proceeding on schedule and will be completed in time for the U.S. Bicentennial celebration according to San Bernardino County Supervisor Robert O. Townsend.

The fourth district supervisor said several potential delays have threatened the July 4 target date, but that the project is now once again on schedule.

Townsend made the remark following a recent tour of the facility with U.S. Rep. Jim Lloyd, D-35th.

The county is using federal revenue sharing funds and constructing the park under a matching agreement with the U.S.

Army Corp. of Engineers.

Phase one of the park is to include an entrance station; 50-space recreational vehicle camping area; three picnic areas with a total of 280 tables, 150 barbecues and 30 drinking fountains; 75 acres of landscaping with 1,500 trees and shrubs, two ponds with nine acres of surface area, a maintenance facility, 9,000 feet of road, five restrooms and parking for 374 cars.

The construction contract for the park was awarded by the board of supervisors to Charles F. Heike, the lowest of 11 bidders, who is carrying out the work at a cost of approximately $1.5 million.

Townsend said the two most recent concerns involved construction of sanitation and water lines into the park.

Some three miles of sewer must be constructed to serve the park — also providing facilities for the California Institution for Women and El Prado Golf Course, a private development currently under construction adjacent to the park.

The supervisor said the system's estimated construction cost of $350,000 will be funded 87.5 per cent under a clean water grant from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency with the park, golf course, and CIW sharing the 12.5 per cent local expense.

Water for the park was originally to be brought from an existing line which ends at the intersection of Ramona and Schaefer Avenues. It was, however, subsequently determined that it would be more economical to bring water approximately 3.5 miles from the line coming from Chino Basin Municipal Water District's Waste Water Treatment Plant No. 1.

Townsend said this line, now under construction will have a capacity of 16 million gallons per day providing water for the lakes at the park, along with irrigation and fire fighting purposes at both the park and golf course.

Drinking water will be provided through another line from wells located north of the park near Chino Airport.

Cost of the domestic line is estimated at $250,000 while the line for the treated water will be about $600,000.

Prado Regional Park is being constructed under a 50-50 cost sharing agreement between the county and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

'Y' offers 3 fitness classes each week

The West End YMCA is holding physical fitness classes on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 5:30 P.M.

With estimates ranging from 600,000 to 900,000 annual deaths resulting from heart attacks, or as Dr. John Boyer of San Diego State College puts it, one out of five American males will have a major coronary episode before age 60, it is important that everyone get the right type and amount of exercise.

The "Y's Way to Fitness" will help each person get just what is required for his need. Guy Fitt, the Y's Physical Director, says that by checking a person's pulse rate he is able to tell if he is working hard enough or too hard.

Interested men or women may sign up at the Y at 215 West C St., Ontario. For more information phone 986-5847.

Tickets on sale for benefit

Tickets are on sale for a benefit sponsored by the Ontario-Upland Jaycees to help six-year-old Tommy Palombo.

A basketball game between the Ontario-Upland Jaycees All Stars and the KLAC disc jockey All Stars will be held April 9 at 8 p.m. at Chaffey High School.

All proceeds from the event will go toward the purchase of a $15,000 specially equipped van needed by young Tommy as a means of transportation.

Tommy, an Alta Loma boy, was critically injured when he was struck by a car while riding a bicycle on June 28, 1975. He remained in critical condition for several months and was finally transported by helicopter to Rancho Los Amigos, a rehabilitation center, in Downey.

But doctors there have done all they can for Tommy and he is coming home this month. Paralyzed from the neck down, Tommy relies on a respirator for every breath. The only way he will be able to leave home is to have the van with a portable, motorized respirator which will run off the van battery.

Many West End residents and businessmen have made it possible for Tommy to have a newly converted room at his Alta Loma home—a room which will accommodate his wheelchair and the life-giving respirator.

Tickets are available from the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, the Upland Chamber of Commerce, Tip's Sporting Goods in Alta Loma and Burnstead's Sporting Goods in Ontario.

Further information about the fund drive or the basketball game may be obtained by calling Hermison at 983-5546.

If natural gas is in such short supply, why don't we use solar energy?

One of a series of reports by Harvey A. Proctor, Chairman, Southern California Gas Company.

Why not tap the abundant energy of the sun? That's a question the Gas Company hears frequently.

In fact, the Gas Company is working hard to use energy from the sun to help solve the natural gas shortage. You may have heard of our SAGE project. It's one of the largest residential solar research projects in the nation. SAGE is short for Solar Assisted Gas Energy. SAGE has been going since 1973 with the Jet Propulsion Laboratory of the California Institute of Technology. With the help of funding from the National Science Foundation, we're collecting energy from the sun and heating water in apartments.

Where SAGE started, where SAGE is now.

In its first phase in 1973, SAGE studies showed that using the sun to heat water was worth trying.

Then an actual water heating system using the sun's energy was built and tested.

After that, SAGE went into the field. A SAGE system was put into a large apartment building in El Toro. There it is heating water for 32 apartments right now.

This year another SAGE system will be installed in a large, new Upland apartment building as it is constructed.

So SAGE has moved from studies and lab work to a real system heating water for a number of families.

The promise of SAGE.

Sometime in the 1980s the sun can be a real help in solving the energy shortage. Although solar energy won't replace gas as a main source of energy, it can help natural gas heat water in new dwelling units. But, materials and systems to catch and hold the sun's energy cost too much at this time.

Only a few people can afford these systems right now because they are costly. However, we at the Gas Company have to think about all of the 12,000,000 people we supply. The cost of solar energy today is considerably higher than the cost of natural gas. That cost must be brought down before this country can make much use of solar energy.

As we and others gain more experience with solar energy and as costs of other energy forms increase, the use of solar energy will become more practical. But this effort will take time, and today's energy problems need to be solved with today's energy sources and technologies.

The greater promise of Indonesia, Alaska and New Mexico.

There's only one way to solve the natural gas shortage, which is here now and getting worse, and threatens to be desperate by 1979 or 1980: find and get new gas supplies.

We've been working on four major new supply projects. Indonesia is one. It could provide southern California with large new supplies. The Cook Inlet in south Alaska is another. Natural gas from Atlantic Richfield Company in northern Alaska looked as if it would fill a lot of southern California's needs, but we were forced to cancel that contract. We still hope to get gas from northern Alaska. The fourth project is in New Mexico and could fill 10% of current needs. There we would make gas from coal.

Those projects would go far in solving the gas shortage. But three have been delayed seriously. And the ARCO gas has been lost, at least for the time being.

What is holding up those new supplies?

Approvals. Every project has to be approved by many local, state and national authorities. As many as 100 approvals have been needed for one project that's still not approved. Some projects are approved and then restudied time after time. This costs time, and that adds to the cost of the project. As time passes, the price of everything — pipelines, materials, labor, ships — just keeps going up and up because of inflation.

To get you more gas at the lowest price, we need faster action by government agencies. Our studies, based on government reports, show that 700,000 jobs in this area are at stake.

How can you help?

Keep yourself fully informed about the natural gas shortage and our efforts to bring you new supplies. We have a small brochure that can give you more information. Write for the Gas Company brochure on supply. Southern California Gas Company, P.O. Box 54093, Los Angeles, CA 90054.

Cancer crusade

Mrs. Glenn Mikesell, an Upland resident and the May Queen Rebekah, Lodge 177 of Ontario along with Mrs. James Hensley and Mrs. Francis Traister Ontario, residential chairwomen are distributing the American Cancer Society packets to their captains for this year's house-to-house crusade that starts Sunday and runs through April 18.

Approximately 1,600 volunteers in the West End will be collecting contributions and distributing educational literature which includes instructions for women on how to perform breast self-examination.

The American Cancer Society uses the money it collects to support research projects which aid scientists in their search for the causes and cures of this disease.

The other major components of the society's attack against cancer at the education programs and the patient service and rehabilitation programs.

Through education the society hopes to reach the public with measures designed to help them recognize symptoms of cancer through the safeguards of cancer and its warning signals.

In the patient service and rehabilitation programs, the society provides free transportation for cancer patients, loans sickroom equipment and provides counseling and referrals.

The rehabilitation programs are an attempt to help return cancer patients to the lives they led before the cancer developed.

Anyone needing information may contact the American Cancer Society office at 417 W. E St. between 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays or call 983-2784.

Children (AFDC) payment errors dropped significantly in the county during 1975.

In a letter to the Board of Supervisors, Director of Benefit Payments Marion Woods said,

"Improvements such as those you have made go a long way toward insuring public confidence in the operation of public assistance programs and toward making the AFDC program more equitable, efficient, and effective."

He said a statewide decrease in payment errors accounted for a $14.5 million savings in AFDC payments from the first half of 1975 through the second half of the year.

Program errors are computed in three areas — overpayments, underpayments, and payments to ineligible persons.

The Town Crier

To help citizens of Upland better understand their city's responsibilities and services and to get answers on city government, John Shoemaker, Upland community relations coordinator, is bringing City Hall to the people through the courtesy of the Upland News. The column "The Town Crier" is designed to be informative on all issues of city government.

To reach "The Town Crier," write: Community Relations, City of Upland, 460 N. Euclid Ave., Upland, CA 91786. Persons should include their name, address and telephone number. Only initials will be listed in the column.

QUESTION: Is it permissible to have a motorhome or trailer on our property and have people live in it? A.B.

ANSWER: This is a no no. Upland Municipal Code states that a recreational vehicle shall not be used for habitation purposes.

QUESTION: On our street we have a drainage problem, why is it? M.E.

ANSWER: The street in question is designed at .25 percent slope to drain to Mountain Avenue. This is an extremely slight grade, very close to being level. The answer is that the geography of the land slopes at this rate and allows no other design. This is a problem typical to our east-west streets. A storm drain would help to solve this problem but this would cost tens of thousands of dollars. Therefore, at present, there is nothing that can be done to eliminate the problem.

QUESTION: There are chuck holes and water at the corner of Arrow Highway and Ninth Avenue continually. Why can't this be fixed? J.J.

ANSWER: There is continual maintenance provided to keep the corner in repair. To correct the problem, the city has a project scheduled for this summer.

QUESTION: I have a 20-foot setback in front of my property and believe it belongs to the city. Why can't the city keep it clean? S.G.G.

ANSWER: Even though the city controls parkways, it still is the responsibility of the property owner to maintain the area between the property line and the curb line. Where no parkway exists, it still is the responsibility of the property owner to maintain the area as though it were a parkway.

A Sequel: Ignorance Is 'Blitz' In A Whiplash

By Dr. Wes Helzer, D.C.

We have frequently issued warnings of the consequences of ignoring treatment for whiplash injuries. In my view it is foolhardy to forego examination following any auto accident or serious fall as the tell-tale symptoms of a whiplash can be hidden for a few days, or even weeks.

However, when whiplash is ignored at its incidence, it can be devastating in the final analysis.

How devastating? In what way?

Consider such problems as traumatic arthritis, nerve root compression, myofibrositis chronic disc re-injury, to name only a few, all can result from untreated whiplash. And you can see "how devastating."

Following a whiplash joint ligaments can heal with scar tissue if treatment is not sought following the injury.

With scar tissue there is a loss of elasticity in the ligaments, which in itself can result in a loosened spinal joint. If the loose joint becomes unstable, traumatic arthritis may well result.

Myofibrositis occurs when the injured muscle and surrounding ligaments are replaced by the scar tissue.

The most common complication in whiplash is the aforementioned "nerve root compression." Nerve root pain is excruciating, as it radiates over the entire area served by the particular spinal nerve.

Chronic disc re-injury sounds to be the logical danger of an untreated whiplash. A whiplash jolt can render the spine susceptible to any number of disc injuries from subsequent jolts and shocks.

In addition to the problems connected with untreated whiplash as noted here, there are many more. The list is too lengthy in detail here, but neuritis of the neck, extreme nervousness and even eventual brain and spinal injuries can result.

It sounds oversimplifying to say, "to ignore a whiplash is to play with fire," but that is an accurate description.

In other words, don't compound the problems of an accident with your own indifference.

Just about every day I see a patient whose difficulties are traceable to old accidental injuries. They ignored the warning signals, and are paying for it.

As far as I'm concerned, their suffering is absolutely needless.

(NOTE: The whiplash symptoms, whether immediate or delayed, are generally the stiff neck, head or neck pain, and an uneasiness — or tension — particularly upon awakening. The more serious symptoms such as restricted head motion, headache, nausea, muscle spasm, etc., are considered absolute.)

Scanner

The San Antonio Community Hospital

Radiology Department received approval March 27 from the Inland Counties Comprehensive Health Planning Council for the acquisition of a Total Body Computerized Axial Tomographic (CAT) Scanner, the most modern equipment in the field of diagnostic radiology.

The "CAT" incorporates a new transverse scanning procedure in diagnostic radiology and in an extremely short scanning time - 20 seconds for the entire body scan - records more than 300,000 precise, individual x-ray intensity readings.

Dr. Worth Hooper, director of the Radiology Department, said the noninvasive diagnostic procedure can often decrease the number of days in the hospital for certain injuries and diseases in the evaluation and initiation of treatment.

The CAT Scanner will provide information heretofore not available in the transverse scanning of body organs. The Radiology Department selected the EMI Scanner CT5005, developed in England at an approximate cost of $600,000. San Antonio Community Hospital will be one of a few hospitals in California initially receiving the sophisticated equipment for patient use. Installation is scheduled for November.

The crisis isn't over

Hunger: a problem that needs solving

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a three-part series on world hunger by Mark S. Bollwinkel, a doctor of ministry student at the School of Theology at Claremont, and program assistant to the Program On International Development Studies and Missions, which is directed by Dr. C. Dean Freudenberger at the School of Theology. Bollwinkel is also a Project Burning Bush intern-pastor at the First Presbyterian Church of Upland.

By Mark Bollwinkel
The term "hunger" rarely is used in a headline or television news program these days, unlike a few years ago.

The United Nations' November, 1974 World Food Conference and its conclusions seemingly have come and gone in our attention. Yet the realities of two-thirds of humanity living in poverty, 460 million persons literally facing starvation, and food production increases falling behind population growth make the "Hunger Crisis" very much alive and well for our present and our future.

The "hunger crisis" isn't over and it isn't just another issue or movement, like so many of the recent past. The hunger problem, and all that it involves, is our future. If we can begin to understand it, we can begin to see and act for a world where each person is freed from the bondage of hunger.

There are a number of "reasons" why "hunger" has left the public's attention.

First, Americans usually respond to such large and complex situations by trying to find quick solutions. We become very frustrated when gifts of train and tractors don't seem to really matter. If the problem we are trying to solve really becomes overwhelming Americans can easily afford to ignore it. Secondly, it's not America's fault that "those people" are starving. It is common knowledge that the hungry people of the Third World are lazy, that all they do is have babies, and that they are basically stupid. "Why don't they eat the cows in India?"

Thirdly, just look at how much Americans have done to help those poor people. The United States gives the largest amount of aid in the world, and most of the time it ends up rotting on a dock or being sold by some governmental black marketeer.

These reasons why the hunger question seemingly is no longer important are popular all over Southern California and the U.S. They are widely held notions. They are also based completely on myth and misinformation.

Western agricultural technologies have done miracles in northern climates yet can be destructive, or at best meaningless, in the tropical world where one-half of

Funding sought

Seventh-day Adventists have been asked to supply funds to help build about 3,000 homes in the Guatemalan town of Milpas Altos, 50 per cent destroyed by the recent earthquake, according to Marie Toeniessen, Covina Seventh-day Adventist Church lay activities secretary.

Guatemalan authorities have invited the Seventh-Day Adventist World Services (SAWS) to supply material for every home destroyed in the town, according to Howard Burbank, SAWS executive director.

Burbank said the first 1,000 homes are now under construction by SAWS.

"The $375,000 for these homes will be over and above the quarter of a million dollars already spent by SAWS for immediate relief needs and a more recent plane load which added 11 tons of clothing, 5,000 blankets and 500 more tents," he added.

Mrs. Toeniessen said tax deductible checks should be sent to:

Funds for Guatemala
c/o Kenneth H. Emmerson
6840 Eastern Ave., N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20012

Funds will be used to build earthquake resistant adobe block homes costing $75 each. Materials for the 18-foot by 18-foot homes include precast, reinforced concrete posts, metal roofing, and barbed wire.

stations throughout the world. He has recorded two records, "Ever Gentle, Ever Sweet" and "Burt Kettinger" arranged by Larry Mayfield for Tempo Records Inc. of Kansas City.

Kettinger has been a resource person for the singing group, "Free Spirit." He has sung and spoken at many church and civic meetings, youth groups, camps and crusades throughout the United States and in several foreign countries. D. Don Mannoia, pastor of the Glendora church, invites all residents to attend the concert.

First Christian

The First Christian Church, Ramona Ave. and Juanita, La Verne, has been enjoying a series of Lenten sermons by Pastor Milton Hay encouraging the close examination of each individual's personal Christian faith. The sermons are based upon the important Christian characteristics of virtue, knowledge, self-control, and patience as described in Peter 1:5-8, and continue with Palm Sunday's message on brotherly affection. The Easter sermon will climax and conclude the series with an emphasis upon love. There is a nursery for children. The public is invited to join in this celebration and renewal 10:45 a.m. Palm Sunday and Easter.

The annual Maundy Thursday Service 7:30 p.m. April 15 will feature music by the choir. Pastor Hay will bring the message. For the Easter celebration the choir has selected Elmo Mercer's "Lonely Road Up to Calvary Way" and selections from John W. Peterson's Easter Cantata, "No Other Love."

Business conference

The second Annual Business Affairs Conference sponsored by the Pomona Valley Council of Churches will be held 8:30 a.m. - noon Saturday at the Chino United Methodist Church, 12909 Sixth St., Chino.

This year's conference will feature workshops on the following subjects: insurance; taxation; personnel policies; money keeping for small churches; wills; bequests and memorials; and custodial and maintenance service.

Providing leadership for these workshops will be Arthur Munson, Ron Maw, Virgil Wilkinson, Donald Reisinger, and a panel of people led by the Rev. Morgan Sly. Panelists will be Edward Girard, George Beardwood, James Carlson, Cecil Edgar and Alvin Koenig.

Chairing these various groups will be Dr. Harold McClelland, Maxine Douglas, Richard Ludden, and Harold Knipe.

The workshop will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m. and the opening session commencing at 9 a.m.

Foothill Communities

Pastor Jim Hamilton recently addressed the congregation at the charter membership and organizational day of the Foothill Communities Church, worshipping at Alta Loma High School. Seventy-eight people became charter members of the foothill areas newest church.

A special speaker, the Rev. Robert Scott, challenged the new church to be involved in a spiritual quest to reach all individuals in the tri-city area. At the close of his sermon, he installed Pastor and Mrs. Jim Hamilton and family as leaders of this new fellowship. As Pastor Hamilton read the roll of members, Rev. Scott welcomed them into the church and handed them a special Charter Membership Certificate. 137 celebrated no money for gas or parts, and no way of obtaining the knowledge to maintain it. Western solutions are not necessarily the solutions for the rest of the world.

We do not understand the real situation of life in poverty. More than one billion people in the world, according to the United Nations, are seriously undernourished.

How hard would you work on a diet of far less than 2,000 calories a day for your whole life?

How many children would you have if you depended on children to work the fields, when it took eight births to have two babies lives past the age of 5, and the only social security or pension you had for retirement was the labor of your children?

If you were in the shoes of that "stupid" Indian, would you eat a cow which provides your only source of fertilizer, dried dung for your only source of fuel for cooking or heat, and milk and cheese for your family? Or would you also find that cow sacred?

Just how much has America done to help these "poor people" throughout the world?

The U.S. does, in fact, give the largest single dollar amount of aid in the world. But in a list of the 17 nations which give aid to other countries, in relation to their gross national products, the U.S. is 16th.

When we do give food it does not always get to the people who need it most. In 1974 75 per cent of U.S. PL 480 Food For Peace grain went to eight nations, including Israel, Portugal, South Vietnam and Cambodia.

In terms of "look at how much we've done to help," what does the American defense budget of more than $100 billion say in relation to the $14 billion the U.S. will give in development aid this year?

The reason that hunger is not a popular issue on television or in the newspapers these days is because of myth and misinformation. These common notions lead us into isolation and efforts to avoid the problem. They also lead us into guilt which results in our trying to solve a gigantic and complex problem with "band-aids," such as only giving to some relief organization or blaming the victims for their own miseries.

There are a number of people who haven't settled for either isolation or guilt. Thousands of persons in Christian churches throughout the country and in Southern California are trying to break through the myths and misinformation about hunger to discover the real causes and how they can meaningfully respond to the problem.

They are finding that with a genuine understanding of the hunger situation, the problem isn't hopeless and that there are individual and organized efforts that can really make a positive difference.

What the "causes of hunger" are and how we can all respond to help fight hunger will be the subject of the next two articles in this series.

Christ Lutheran

An outdoor "Passion Play—Easter Pageant" for the community will be presented 4 p.m. Saturday admission free at Christ Lutheran Church, 5500 Francis Ave., Chino. A replica of the original Jerusalem tomb has been constructed for the staging. Calvary also will be depicted. Twenty-two costumed players will give the performance which is not a pantomime.

'His Ambassadors'

"His Ambassadors," a group of young religious singers, will perform 4 p.m. Saturday at the Covina Seventh-day Adventist Church, 1067 E. Badillo St. The church serves San Dimas, La Verne and Walnut. The public is invited.

The singers are students at Newberry Park Academy, Ventura. As ambassadors for Christ, their program consists of a mixture of gospel songs and personal witnessing. Accompanied by Jake Duran, Bible instructor and chaplain, they have toured extensively in Southern California.

A Woman Ought to Know

Man gets paid more

Dear Anita,

I've worked for the same company for nine years, and I like my job, though it is harder to get by on my salary all the time. I just found out the man at the next desk, doing the same work I do, gets more than $200 a month more. I don't think that's fair!

S.L., Redondo Beach

Dear S.L.,

It doesn't sound fair. What's more important, it may not be legal! The company you work for may very well be covered by the federal Equal Pay Act, which became law in 1963. The Equal Pay Act prohibits discrimination based on sex in earnings, including overtime pay and most fringe benefits. It also requires equal pay for men and women working in the same establishment, performing substantially the same duties, at the same skill level, effort, and responsibility.

The Wage and Hour Division of the United States Department of Labor administers the federal Equal Pay Act. There are offices in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The State of California has an equal pay law as well, which is administered by the Fair Employment Practices Commission, with headquarters in San Francisco.

You should probably check first with the nearest office of the Wage and Hour Division. They will be able to tell you whether your company comes under federal or state equal pay jurisdiction. (Such factors as operation of out-of-state business, dollar amount of business, etc., are considered.) Confidentiality on your questions is maintained, a factor which may very well be important to you.

You may be interested to know that a major university carried out a study not long ago, comparing men and women in the same jobs, with the same education and training, and with the same years of experience. The male workers averaged $3,600 per year more in salary. This is not heartening news, but it does point up how important it is for citizens to be concerned with the implementation of law. Enactment is not enough!

Anita Miller

Dear Anita,

This is the year we'll elect a president, and that brings up my question: do the candidates pay attention to women voters?

P.D., Sacramento
Dear P.D.,

Yes, I think you'll find that candidates are paying more and more attention to women voters, and for good reason. Women make up more than 50 per cent of the population in the nation and in California, and they are as likely to register to vote as men.

Recent figures from the U.S. Bureau of the Census show that women outvoted men in steadily increasing numbers in the last three presidential elections.

Almost two million more women than men voted in 1964, almost three million in 1968, and almost four million in 1972. The women's percentage of total vote in those three years was respectively 51 per cent, 52 per cent, and 52 per cent.

Women received the franchise in 1920, over half a century ago. Since that time, countless studies have been made of those participating in elections. Political scientists have pinpointed a number of variables in women's voting: educational level, sense of civic duty, etc.

April 8, 1976
The major factor in whether people vote, whether they are male or female, seems to be a stake in the issue up for decision. A vote on bonds to establish local playgrounds, for example, draws the attention of children's mothers, and their fathers as well.

Going to the polls does not appear to be sex-linked.

Brethren In Christ

The Junior Choir of the Upland Brethren In Christ Church will present a children's musical, "The Story Tellin' Man," 6 p.m. Sunday in the Fellowship Hall, corner of Arrow Highway and San Antonio Avenue. The musical by Ken Medema combines song and narration to highlight the parable of Jesus. The choir is directed by Dena Habens, a junior majoring in Christian education at Azusa Pacific College. Narrator is the Rev. Glenn Ginder.

Camp Farthest Out

At the next meeting of the Pomona Valley Camp Farthest Out 6:30 p.m. Saturday, in the East Lounge of Claremont Manor, 650 Harrison Ave., Claremont, the speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Roy B. Damron of Pilgrim Place, Claremont, who received his doctor of divinity from Pacific University in Oregon.

SD Drive-In

Palm Sunday has been designated "Hosanna Day" by Pastor Melvin De Vries at the Valley Community Drive-In Church, Lone Hill Avenue and Covina Boulevard, San Dimas. This day will see the culmination of a program begun two months ago by the local congregation which should result in a large sum of money to help the hungry of the world.

In February, members of the congregation were given Love Loaves, a small coin container shaped like a loaf of bread, into which they were to place money each day. The filled containers are to be returned this Sunday when the deacons of the church will open them all and place the contents in a huge pile at the front of the sanctuary. The Love Loaf program is an idea of World Vision International to help the needy of the world and the local church is just one of many churches participating in the program. The proceeds will be shared between the local church, World Vision and the Reformed Church in America, the denomination to which the San Dimas church belongs.

The Sacrament of Baptism and reception of new members will also be a part of the 11 a.m. worship service. Pastor De Vries will speak on "Hosanna Day" at the 8:30 a.m. drive-in only service. Sunday school for all ages is at 9:30 a.m.

In the evening beginning at 7 p.m., the Moody Science film "Windows of the Soul" will be shown. Admission is free. An offering will be received. The public is invited.

St. Mark's

St. Mark's Episcopal Church of Upland will begin Holy Week observances with the Blessing of the Palms and celebration of the Eucharist at the 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. services Sunday. The 10 a.m. service will feature a congregational procession including music by the Parish Brass, banners, palms, a liturgical dance group and a donkey ridden by a parish child representing Jesus' entry into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday. The Rev. Dr. Randolph Crump Miller, professor of Christian nurture, Yale University Divinity School, will preach.

The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated 7 a.m., 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Maundy Thursday, April 15 to commemorate the institution of the Lord's Supper. The church is located at 330 E. 16th St.

CONCERT — The Cleveland Quartet will appear 7:30 p.m. Sunday at Ambassador Auditorium, Pasadena. The group is known for its innovative approach to involving young people in classical music. While many young contemporary artists choose to specialize in 20th Century repertoire, they prefer Beethoven and Brahms and the works of the masters, played with emphasis on "soulfulness." Tickets are available at the Ambassador box office, 300 W. Green St., Pasadena, (213) 577-5360.

Save time

This season vegetable gardens are popping up in front yards and hanging from balconies. The backyard gardener is busy increasing production space with container grown vegetables on the patio. However, the veteran vegetable gardener leads the way for the innovative with a time and energy saver - the raised vegetable garden.

Raised beds give the home vegetable gardener a chance to choose the very best soils for his growing needs and provide excellent drainage. Raised beds make watering a simple task. No more dabbling water on to keep from flooding the wrong areas. Weeding becomes less of a strain on the back and legs. And if sterilized soil is used the weed problem is reduced significantly.

HUNTING — Dustin Hoffman as Carl Bernstein plays half the Washington Post team which tracked down the Watergate burglary and helped turn it into a national scandal.

"ALL THE PRESIDENT'S MEN" — Dustin Hoffman and Robert Redford play Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward in the film version of "All the President's Men," the book by the young reporters which won the Pulitzer Prize for the Washington Post and sold almost 2.5 million copies. The film dramatizes the adventures of two young men whose investigative reporting helped bring about the fall of a U.S. president and who themselves became a new kind of American hero. It is a Wildwood Enterprises Production, a Robert Redford-Alan J. Pakula Film, and a Warner Bros. release.

'All the President's Men'

Robert Redford puts it together

At 2:30 in the morning of Saturday, June 17, 1972 five men broke into headquarters of the Democratic National Committee in Washington's Watergate Office Building. They were arrested in the act.

Bob Woodward, a young reporter on the payroll of the Washington Post only nine months, had frequently expressed an interest in a good Saturday assignment. A member of the paper's District of Columbia staff, he had just completed a series on the attempted assassination of Alabama Governor George Wallace. Some seven hours after the Watergate burglary, his city editor called him in.

From the Post's veteran police reporter, Al Lewis, Woodward learned the burglars were dressed in business suits, wore surgical gloves, carried walkie-talkies, cameras, lock picks, and bugging devices capable of eavesdropping on both room and telephone conversations.

Woodward noticed Carl Bernstein, a Post reporter since 1966, was also working the story. His reaction is described thusly in the book: "Oh, God no Bernstein." Woodward thought, recalling office tales about Bernstein's ability to push his way into a good story and get his byline on it. That morning, Bernstein had xeroxed copies of notes from reporters at the scene, and informed the city editor, he would make some more checks. . . . Bernstein had begun a series of phone calls to everybody at the Watergate he could reach — desk clerks, bellmen, maids. . . ."

At the courthouse that afternoon for the preliminary arraignment to determine if bail would be granted, Woodward's curiosity was piqued by the presence of certain powerhouse attorneys who were not the prisoners' attorneys of record. Then, when one of the burglars, James W. McCord Jr., admitted he had recently retired from the CIA, Woodward knew this was more than the overly zealous action of a political fanatic, or a simple third-rate burglary, as it had been labeled by the White House.

The crime at first was considered a police matter, and the Post's national news desk does not cover police stories. By the time it became apparent that the burglary was only the edge of a widespread web of crime, an attempt to subvert the nation's free electoral system and the citizenry's right to privacy. Woodward and Bernstein's claim on the continuing assignment had been validated.

Soon their revelations were being printed worldwide and became major irritants to the White House hierarchy, including the man at the top. The reporters encountered vehement denials from the enclaves of power, castigation and ridicule by President Nixon's press spokesmen. However, despite ominous warnings of their vulnerability to responses both physical and fiscal, Woodward, Bernstein and their colleagues at the Post — from topmost management on down — were eventually able to prove the link to the Oval Office they had long suspected.

A nation at first unwilling to believe that the President — any president — could stoop to such conspiracy, or even condone it, began to have doubts; and the flow of disclosures in the Post (and to a lesser degree in other journals) eventually evoked within Congress a determination to seek the truth.

Moreover, it catalyzed within the administration and the ranks of the conspirators a growing malaise which, in some instances, blossomed into panic. Self-discipline cracked. Lust for survival turned some participants upon one another. Such disintegration of morale brought new revelations, plus confirmation of information which was until then only intelligent conjecture.

Thus the role of the press in general, and Woodward and Bernstein in particular, had ramifications beyond the immediate published results of their detective work.

As the Woodward-Bernstein coverage gained momentum in 1972 and early in 1973, it attracted Robert Redford's attention. During a tour promoting his film, "The Candidate," he was in frequent contact with newspapermen and women and was impressed by their cynicism concerning Watergate. "They felt this was business as usual in politics, as they were convinced that truth would never be known," says Redford. "For me that was hard to swallow. However, during the next few months, I found it to be true, except for the occasional story of Woodward and Bernstein. Most other papers were strangely silent until Woodward and Bernstein broke the Segretti dirty tricks story."

Immediately prior to Watergate, Bernstein had written a Post expose on crooked career schools which impressed a young literary agent, David Obst. Some months later Obst approached Bernstein to expand the subject to book length. Bernstein declined, suggesting instead a book by Woodward and himself on Watergate.

This was prior to Watergate burglar James McCord's letter to Judge John J. Sirica concerning perjury and asserting that pressure had been applied to the five burglars, including himself, to keep silent and plead guilty. It was before the resignation of H. R. Haldeman, White House Chief of Staff, and John D. Ehrlichman, assistant to the President for domestic affairs. It was prior to the Ervin Committee revelations. While hard proof tying President Nixon directly to the cover-up was lacking, Woodward and Bernstein realized the multifaceted operation had tentacles reaching into the highest echelons of government itself, the Nixon campaign operation, the administration and the White House.

Obst found interest, but no intense enthusiasm in the publishing business at that time for a book on Watergate, but finally signed a deal for Woodward and Bernstein with Simon and Schuster.

"We conceived of the project as a book on Howard Hunt, Gordon Liddy and John Mitchell — what those three and some other people did connected with Watergate and the concealment," says Woodward.

Then Watergate burst in early 1973. Haldeman and Ehrlichman resigned. Redford came to Washington and met with Woodward.

"He said he could just see this movie about two reporters working the Watergate story," recalls Woodward. "then we realized we should tell it as a personal story, tell our corner of it. So we wrote the book a personal narrative, to a certain extent on Redford's suggestion."

Redford remembers it this way: "I was fascinated partly because it was a David and Goliath story. How come they did what no one else was doing? Why weren't the famous political reporters, the widely-printed by line stars, doing what they were noted for? How come these two virtually unknown reporters could do something that would bring down the powers of the country?"

"It was something that probably could not be done elsewhere in the world. No other country can boast a more open society than we have. I told them I'd like to explore that in a film."

Woodward wrote a first draft of about 1,000 pages. Bernstein rewrote it, eliminating some and adding other material. Alice Mayhew, Simon and Schuster's highly admired editor, helped boil it down to a taut 400 pages, more or less. The book reportedly sold more than 2,750,000 copies by the end of 1975 in a half dozen languages. Paperback rights brought an announced $1 million.

Redford maintained close contact with Woodward and Bernstein, and they agreed to let his company, Wildwood Enterprises, produce any film which might be made of their work. "I was now locked into it," says Redford. "We were a package, and whoever wanted to bid on the project would inherit my involvement as producer."

Although the public had been saturated with information on the burglary, the cover-up and use of the FBI, IRA and CIA to harass those on the enemies list created by high offices of the Nixon Administration, Redford had apparently sensed correctly that this was surface information. He believed the subsurface information to be highly dramatic and suspenseful, and book reviewers agreed.

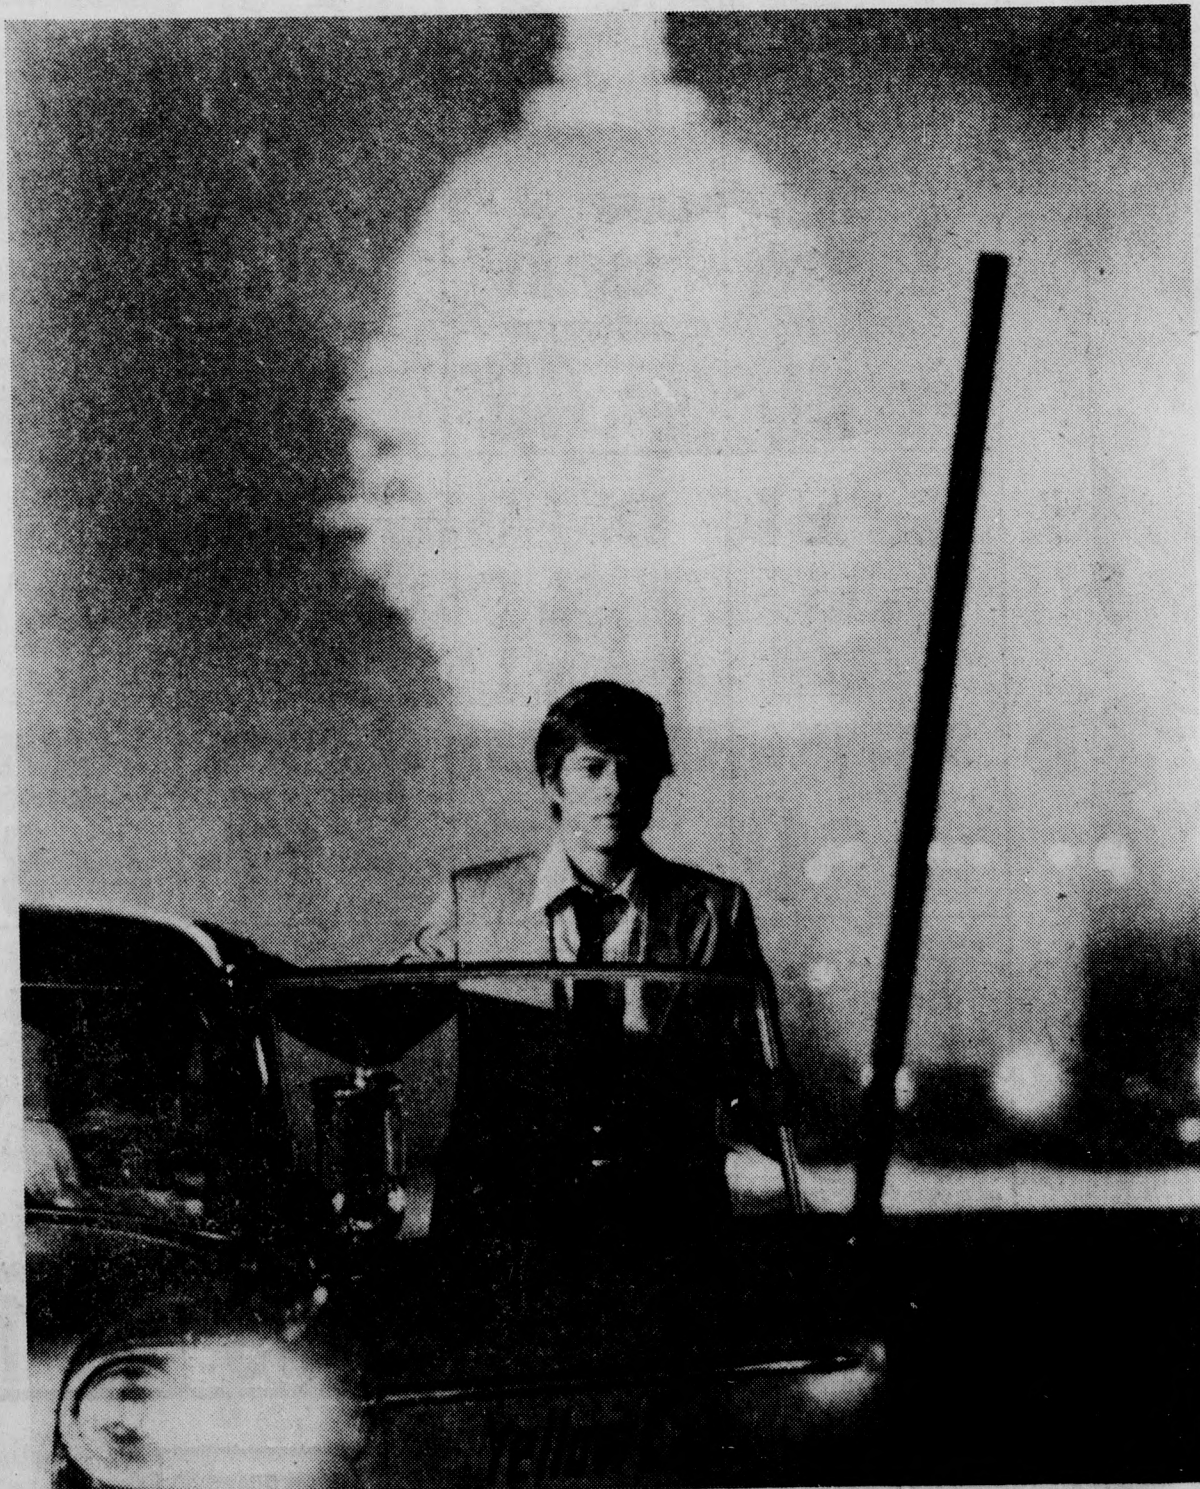

They praised the "gripping power" of "All the President's Men" (Chicago Tribune), called it a "political thriller" (Atlantic Monthly), and "one of the greatest detective stories ever told" (Denver Post). The New York Times called it "a classic."

Says Redford: "My first concept was for a small movie, costing less than $2 million. But Playboy ran excerpts from the book prior to publication. It became a hot item. Studios jumped into hectic bidding."

Warner Bros. purchased screen rights for Wildwood Enterprises for $450,000 plus bonuses.

Originally Redford had intended using two unknown actors, since the reporters were themselves little known when the adventure began. But with costs so high for screen rights, story development, and set construction, it was apparent he would have to appear in the movie as Woodward — with another top star playing Bernstein — as insurance.

Warner Bros. gave Redford full freedom: "They agreed with my concept. They exhibited enormous faith in me by saying, 'Make what you want' . . . and they stayed out of my hair."

BY THE CAPITOL — Robert Redford does a taxi switch while on his way to a rendezvous with Deep Throat in this scene from "All the President's Men." Many of the locations were actual scenes of the Watergate affair in Washington, D.C. Appearing in the real-life roles of members of the Washington Post's editorial staff are Jason Robards, Martin Balsam and Jack Warden; and the role of Deep Throat, the famous but never identified figure in the underground garage, is played by Hal Holbrook.

Health Tips

Gout can be painful

EDITOR'S NOTE: Health Tips is a column of the California Medical Education and Research Foundation, prepared and edited by physician members of the California Medical Association. It is reprinted by this newspaper as a public service.

Gout is a form of arthritis which is most likely to show up in the outlying joints of the body. Its most common site is the big toe, but it can also occur in the hands, knees, elbows or instep. Gout usually develops in middle age, and its victims are almost always men. There seems to be a strong family predisposition toward the illness.

This form of arthritis is caused by a metabolic disorder which results in an abnormally high level of uric acid in the blood. Eventually this excessive uric acid crystallizes into solid substances (urates) which may be deposited in various parts of the body — in the cartilage of the ear where they are quite harmless; in the urine where they may result in the formation of a kidney stone; and in the joints where they result in the inflammatory response known as gouty arthritis.

The affected joint is extremely painful and swollen, and the skin surrounding it may be sensitive to the touch. It is not uncommon for the patient to have a fever and a general feeling of illness. An attack may last for several days or for weeks if untreated.

Attacks of gout tend to recur although a great deal can be done to control them. Certain foods may contribute to accumulation of uric acid. These include organ meats (such as liver, kidneys and sweetbreads), sardines and anchovy.

Dietary restrictions, however, are not very effective in reducing attacks of gout since only a small proportion of the body's uric acid comes from external sources. Gradual weight reduction is often advised as part of the program to prevent recurrence of gout.

Unlike most forms of arthritis, gout responds well to specific medication. A commonly used drug is colchicine, which effectively reduces the painful inflammation. Some newer anti-inflammatory drugs also relieve the acute symptoms without the side effects sometimes associated with colchicine. Newer drugs are also available which reduce the formation or increase the elimination of uric acid and thus check the progress of the disease. Your physician can suggest a specific program of medication for the relief of pain in the acute attack and for long-term prophylaxis.

Preventing the recurrence of attacks of gouty arthritis is important for several reasons. Repeated attacks, without proper treatment, may result in permanent joint deformity.

The person who has had a bout of gout and the person who has not yet had his or her first attack but comes from a gouty family should follow a sensible living pattern which includes:

— Keeping weight down to a normal level.

— Avoiding specific rich foods associated with gout.

— Reducing the amount of stress and strain in daily routine, if possible.

— Seeking medical help when an attack occurs so that effective medication can be prescribed.

— Regular taking of prophylactic medicine under medical supervision.

Use spare time

Time an asset for arthritics

By Becky Highstreet

Arthritis Foundation

As an arthritis sufferer, time is one of your greatest assets. Because arthritis is a long term disease, this time element can be used to your advantage. Simplicity of effort and protection of joints — at limited expense — are probably your most immediate needs. You can use your spare time to help satisfy these necessities.

According to the Arthritis Foundation, the following hints can show you how to use that time wisely, through simplifications of daily activities. However, it is important to note the aids do not preclude the need for a physician's care.

For a woman with arthritis, there are two tasks which are extremely difficult to undertake. Gallant attempts at curling your hair and putting hose may be commendable, but there are ways to lessen that martyred feeling.

For instance, there is a specific type of curler that does not require the use of clips or pins. The curlers can even be managed with one hand. Just wrap them around the hair and they will attach themselves. The name to ask for is Velcro, but first call the department or variety store to find out if they carry the hair rollers.

Stockings create the problem of having to bend down to pull them on. A foam pad provides a friction surface which aids in getting the stocking all the way onto the foot. Simply rub your foot along the pad to force the stocking gently up. A stocking garter can also be used to speed up the process. Sew the corset garters on the ends of two long elastic tapes, hooking the garters to the tops of the stockings. Then, pull the stocking up with the tapes.

Identification tag needed even on off-road vehicle

California motorists inclined to operate their dune buggies on their own private beach or transport their motorcycles from one racing event to another without proper Department of Motor Vehicles identification plates or transportation permits may wind up spending more money on traffic tickets than on gasoline this year.

Legislation which became effective January 1 deleted the previous fee exemption for off-highway vehicles (OHVs) operated solely on property owned by the vehicle's owner, or of which the vehicle owner is a tennant. Owners of such vehicles now must purchase OHV identification plates. Plates expire mid-June 30 the second year after the year issued (plates purchased this year would expire June 30, 1978) and cost $15 for all or any part of the two-year term. The identification sticker must be attached to the vehicle in a clearly visible area.

A special $3 transportation identification permit is required for any motorcycle transported upon California highways and used exclusively for racing in sanctioned events within the state.

Violators may be cited by the California Highway Patrol, city police or county sheriff departments.

Last year 206,320 off-highway motorcycles, minibikes, trail bikes, all-terrain vehicles (ATVs), jeeps, dune buggies, 4-wheel drive vehicles and snowmobiles were registered with DMV, up 65,566 from 1974. Of these, 185,732 were motorcycle-type vehicles.

"If it isn't registered for the street," said Jean Harrison, the Department's OHV section manager, "it must be registered for off-highway purposes with the special OHV identification plate."

The legislation does not affect nonresident motorists visiting California, provided they hold licenses valid in their home states.

Renaissance Pleasure Faire time

Again, 'tis the time of Spring and merry revelry as days of long ago and far away come to life in a meadow at the Old Paramount Ranch in Agoura with the 14th Annual Renaissance Pleasure Faire & Springtime Market.

From 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. each weekend from April 24-25 through May 29-30, a re-created marketplace of shops and stalls, with the entertainments and games of a country fair will turn the clock backward to the golden age of Queen Elizabeth I and 16th century Merry Olde England.

In this world of yesteryear, Fairgoers don costumes and carefree spirits to wander along the fairways in the glen with villagers, noblemen and their ladies; farmers and huntsmen; strolling troubadours and gypsies. In the colorful street stalls aflutter with bright banners, they bargain for goods and treasures from a long time ago.

As they wander, they stop to enjoy singers, story-tellers, musicians and fire-eaters to marvel at the nimble jugglers and cry or laugh with the gentle mimes. At the outdoor Maybower Theatre, they enjoy pageantry and spectacle performed for her Royal Highness and Most Gracious Queen Bess as she spends the afternoon with her people in celebration of the season.

At the food stalls Fairgoers stop to savor the sights and smells, then choose as their stomachs allow from the sumptuous array of stuffed sausages, meat pasties, potato pies, smoked beef, huge turkey legs, corn on the cob, cheeses, crepes, fruit tarts, fruit ices and gingerbread men. In the Turkish tent, they watch exotic dancers while sipping rich dark coffee and nibbling falafel and other specialties from far off lands.

And as young travelers and old join this fair land of another time, another place, they are called to join old English games and competitions. Perhaps to try their skill at jousting, juggling and fencing, or to compete in rope-ladder climbing, hay tossing or giant tug of war in the streets and marketplaces.

This is the Renaissance Pleasure Faire & Springtime Market, reached by taking the Ventura Freeway west of Los Angeles to the Kanan Road Exit and following the signs to free parking.

"You are a mean man," says Charlotte Carpena to Bob Paul at they rehearse for the production of "The Drunkard" and many others to be presented Thursday through Saturday nights by the Montclair Vista Woman's Club at the Monte Vista Lodge, 2426 N. Euclid Ave., Upland. Curtain time will be at 8:15 p.m. for each performance. The Thursday performance will be for students and senior citizens at a reduced price rate. Actress in 'California Suite'

With the addition of Leslie Easterbrook to Neil Simon's "California Suite," starring Tammy Grimes, George Grizzard, Barbara Barrie and Jack Weston, casting is now completed for the world premiere of the comedy, which will open April 23 at the Ahmanson Theatre at the Los Angeles Music Center. Gene Saks is directing the production, an evening of four playlets set at the Beverly Hills Hotel, which will end its Los Angeles engagement June 5, prior to a June 10 opening on Broadway.

Miss Easterbrook is an accomplished singer/actress whose acting career includes roles at the Ahmanson in "Macbeth" and "Cyrano de Bergerac," as well as in the Civic Light Opera production of "Camelot," "Wonderful Town," "The King and I" and "Oliver." Miss Easterbrook has been a soloist with leading symphony orchestras around the country and has also sung in numerous operas. She was a member of the marathon rehearsal company of "Hallelujah Hollywood," which prepared for its Las Vegas Grand Hotel opening for a record one year — leaving the company shortly before the premiere to take on other commitments.

Miss Teen-Ager Pageant June 26

Final preparations are being made for the fifth annual Miss California National Teen-Ager Pageant to be held June 26 at the University of California, Berkeley. The University of California will be host college for the three-day event which is the official state finals to the Miss National Teen-Ager Pageant to be held Aug. 6 in Atlanta, Ga. The girl selected as Miss California Teen-Ager will receive a scholarship, other prizes and an all-expense-paid trip to the national pageant.

Special invited guests to the California pageant are: Kimberly Ann Jensen, 1976 Miss National Teen-Ager of Caldwell, Idaho; Linda Lindemann of Alpine, the reigning Miss California National Teen-Ager; and Stacy Lanphier of Carmichael, 1972; Melinda Palmer of Maglia, 1973, and Robin Anna Moore of Bellflower, 1974, all former state queens.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement — leadership, poise-personality and beauty. Each contestant will have participated in the volunteer community service program, the pageant theme "What's Right About America" and the mini-modeling charm course.

A new automobile and $10,000 in cash scholarships will be awarded at the national pageant in Atlanta. Teen-agers desiring further information may write to Sybil Shaffer, 215 Piedmont Ave., N.E., Atlanta, Ga., 30308 or call 404-659-4610.

Montclair Starlite Series

The Montclair Starlite Series, an admission free concert series sponsored by the City of Montclair will present, as the fifth event of the season, a dance and music program entitled "Our Cultural Heritage," on Thursday, April 15 at 8:15 p.m. in the Montclair High School Auditorium, 4725 Benito Ave. It will be a bicentennial endeavor presaging Montclair's 20th anniversary as an incorporated city.

Nancy Lee Ruyter's Jasna Planina Folk Ensemble in conjunction with the Montclair Recreation Folk Dancers will present a program of international folk dances and folk music. The Jasna Planina group, organized in the fall of 1972, specializes in Balkan dance and song with an emphasis on material from Yugoslavia. The name "Jasna Planina" means "clear mountain" in Serbo-Croatian and was chosen as a translation of Claremont where the group is based.

Four days at Shrine Auditorium

Pollack Circus opens

Pollack Brothers Circus opened a four-day, 10-performance engagement at the Shrine Auditorium today.

The circus features a complete new lineup of performers from Europe, South America, Africa, Mexico and the United States.

"The world's most diversified circus playing on the nation's largest auditorium stage will give circus goers in the greater Los Angeles area the finest show ever to play here," a circus spokesman announced.

Circus goers, he said, will be able to see the greatest show on earth in the comfort of the Shrine Auditorium's spacious theater seats instead of on wooden slat benches in a tent.

"Presented as a stage production, without sacrificing any of the thrills and excitement of the big top, the 1976 Shrine Auditorium circus will mark one of the Southland's last opportunities of experiencing the fun and excitement of a 'live' circus performance," the spokesman said.

"Due to the increasing transportation and labor costs the traveling circus is rapidly fading from the entertainment scene in this country," he added.

The Pollack Brothers Circus features a cast of more than 300 international stars and includes the traditional clowns, equestrians, aerialists, elephant and wild animal act.

Circus tickets also admit circus goers to the world's largest midway under one roof — the adjoining Shrine Exposition Hall.

Reserved seat reservations may be had by contacting the circus office in the Shrine Auditorium, 665 W. Jefferson Blvd., Los Angeles, 90007 and by calling (213) 748-0173.

RESOLUTION AND NOTICE OF INTENTION TO SOLICIT PROPOSALS FOR THE OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE OF A GOLF PROFESSIONAL SHOP, INSTRUCTIONAL SERVICES, DRIVING RANGE CONCESSION AND SNACK BAR AREA AT MOUNTAIN MEADOWS GOLF COURSE

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, has found that the public interest and welfare will be served by the solicitation of proposals for the operation and maintenance of the golf pro shop, driving range, cartmobile rental operations and snack bar at the Mountain Meadows Golf Course;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as follows:

1. That it is the intention of the County of Los Angeles, Facilities Department, on the 27th day of April, 1976, prior to 5:00 p.m., in its offices at 780 Hall of Administration, Los Angeles, California 90012, to receive proposals for a Concession Agreement for the operation and maintenance of the golf pro shop, driving range and snack bar concession at the Mountain Meadows Golf Course, 1770 McKinley Avenue, La Verne, California. The purpose of this Resolution and Notice of Intention is not to solicit formal bids, but to request proposals to operate the facilities described above.

2. The term of the Concession Agreement will be for a period of five (5) years commencing within 30 days of its award by the Board of Supervisors.

3. Selection of the best responsible proposal will be based upon the following criteria:

a) Proposer's experience in operating the facilities as required by County.

b) The quality and nature of the equipment and programs to be provided by the proposer.

c) The percentage of gross revenue and minimum annual rental to be paid to the County.

d) The financial responsibility of the proposer.

4. Said concession shall be operated for (1) the sale, rental, storage and or repair of all items relating to the game of golf; the teaching and instruction of golf, provided the instructors are approved in advance by the Director of Parks and Recreation as to their qualifications to provide said service; (2) the operation of the driving range, golf shop, storage and workshop areas and the cartmobile storage area; (3) the rental of power-driven cartmobiles; and (4) a minimal snack bar service.

5. The County will provide a three-trailer complex consisting of shop and office, workshop and storage space and snack bar area; a driving range area and golf cart storage compound. Concessionaire will provide all equipment and supplies necessary for satisfactory operation of the golf pro and snack bar concession.

6. Concessionaire and his agents or employees shall at all times comply with and abide by all rules and regulations heretofore adopted or that may hereafter be adopted by the Board of Supervisors of said County and by Directors of the Facilities Department and Department of Parks and Recreation.

7. The concessionaire's minimal hours of operation will be dawn to dusk every day of the week.

8. The proposal package will be on file in the offices of the Facilities Department, 780 Hall of Administration, 500 West Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012, and will be made available to any and all prospective proposers prior to the date set by the Board of Supervisors for the submitting of the proposals. The final concession agreement will contain substantially the same provisions as the sample Concession Agreement. Said proposal form and Concession Agreement contain in detail all of the terms and conditions pertaining to the operation of the concession and all proposers shall be deemed to have notice, constructive or otherwise, of said terms and conditions.

9. Proposers must satisfy themselves by personal examination of the location of the Concession and by such other means as they may prefer as to the conditions and requirements of the operation of the Concession.

10. Qualifications of proposers:

a. Must have a minimum of three (3) years' experience as the Professional-in-Charge of the operation and management of a golf pro shop, including instruction of golf during this period at a regulation 9- or 18-hole course, or five (5) years' experience as an Assistant Golf Professional, which experience must include some management of a shop at a similar golf course. Must also exhibit experience in the operation of a snack bar concession or related food service.

b. Must offer proof that he has taken and satisfactorily completed courses equal to a college level on the following subjects:

1. Basic Bookkeeping; posting, preparation of a trial balance; preparation of financial statements; control of cash and bank reconciliation statements.

2. Salesmanship; fundamentals of retail, wholesale and service selling; merchandise and sales presentation; principles of self-management; sales demonstration.

3. Personnel Management; the guidance and control of personnel; interviewing, training, job analysis; rating supervisory problems with subordinate personnel.

c. In lieu of any of the above three listed educational courses, additional years of experience as described under (1) above may be substituted on the basis of one year for each category or course as set forth in (2) above.

d. Must possess the necessary line of credit to equip and operate the golf shop and snack bar.

e. Must possess a competent past record of employment as a golf professional as verified and supported by references, letters and other necessary evidence from all employers.

f. In the event a corporation is bidding to operate a golf professional shop, said corporation must verify that the person employed as a head professional or manager of the shop must meet the above-listed qualifications to the satisfaction of the Director of the Department of Parks and Recreation.

11. Each proposer shall furnish the following information with his sealed proposal:

a. Financial Statement - A full and detailed presentation of proposer's assets, liabilities and net worth.

b. General Business Statement - A statement of all of the important business activities of proposer's major business life, emphasizing proposer's experience in the operation of golf shop facilities and snack bar concessions.

c. Personal References - A minimum of five (5) personal references, giving names, addresses and telephone numbers in each instance.

d. Credit References - A minimum of five (5) credit or financial references giving names, addresses and telephone numbers in each instance.

e. Experience - A full statement of proposer's experience in the operation and maintenance of a golf pro shop, driving range and snack bar as described in Section 10 above. It is most important that this statement be up to the last date of such enterprise.

f. Equipment and Inventory - A program of equipment and inventory to be furnished by concessionaire with the cost of furnishing said program.

12. The filing of such statements shall constitute permission by the proposer for the County to check, verify and have certified all information contained in such statements. If the County desires, additional information may be requested from the proposer. Failure to comply with any such request may disqualify any proposer from further consideration.

13. Sealed proposals must be filed in the offices of the Facilities Department of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, 780 Hall of Administration, 500 West Temple Street, Los Angeles, California 90012. The final acceptance of any proposal may be made at any meeting of the County Board of Supervisors within sixty (60) days after receipt of said proposals as recommended by the Director of Facilities or within such longer period as may be deemed reasonable by said Director.

14. No oral proposals will be considered by the Facilities Department. In the event the County accepts any proposal, a concession agreement shall be awarded to the person who submits the best responsible proposal, in the sole judgment of the County. The County reserves the right to reject any and all proposals.

15. Each proposal must be accompanied by a Cashier's Check or a check certified by a responsible bank in the County of Los Angeles and payable to said County in the amount of $2,000 as a guarantee proposer will execute the concession agreement if same is awarded to such proposer. This guarantee will be applied toward, but shall not be considered a limitation upon, any damage which may be sustained by the County if proposer fails to comply.

The foregoing Resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, on the 16th day of March, 1976.

JAMES S. MIZE, Executive Officer-Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County, and ex-officio clerk of the governing body of all other special assessment and taxing districts for which said Board so acts.

Hot Cross ring for Easter morning

Time is rushing past and before you know it, Easter will be here. So plan ahead and surprise the family for Easter breakfast with this Hot Cross Wheat Germ Ring. Inspired by the traditional hot cross buns, this delectable yeast bread is extra festive and special.

On Easter morning what could be nicer for brunch than a hot cross wheat germ ring!

Inspired by the traditional hot cross buns of the season, this delectable yeast bread is extra festive and special. The light golden bread is enriched with high protein wheat germ and flavored with raisins, cinnamon and cloves. It even has a luscious filling of almond paste and wheat germ — a nicely moist and sweet combination. Just follow the easy instructions for filling and forming the dough into the attractive ring with the crisscross top.

A decorative pattern of powdered sugar glaze is the finishing touch to the baked breakfast bread. On a festive board set with bunnies, colorful eggs and fresh daisies, this delicious offering is sure to be the center of attention. Should any of the bread be left over, slice and toast it. Some tasters thought it even better this way than when fresh from the oven.

Breads and other baked goods made with wheat germ really do have that extra something that makes them stand out from all others. It's amazing how this simple cereal product produces breads with heartier texture, richer flavor and better color.

Just like all other perishable basic ingredients, wheat germ should be refrigerated once the seal has been broken on the vacuum packed jars. This natural grain product has no preservatives or additives.

Hot Cross Wheat Germ Ring
 1 cup milk
 6 tablespoons butter
 1 package active dry yeast

1/4 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 eggs
 1/2 cup vacuum packed wheat germ (regular)
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/4 teaspoon cloves
 1/2 cup raisins
 2 1/2 to 3 cups flour
 Wheat Germ Almond Filling
 Egg Wash

Heat milk and butter together until warm to touch, about 100°. Butter does not have to melt completely. Pour into large bowl. Sprinkle with yeast and stir until dissolved. Stir in sugar, salt, eggs, wheat germ, cinnamon, cloves and raisins. Add enough flour, a little at a time, to make a soft dough which leaves sides of bowl. Turn out onto floured surface. Knead, adding flour as necessary, for 5 minutes, until dough is smooth and elastic. Roll into 15 x 8-inch rectangle. Transfer to baking sheet. Spoon Wheat Germ Almond Filling in strip down center. Snip dough from outside edges of rectangle to 1/4 inch from filling at 1/2-inch intervals. Join end of strip No. 1 with end of strip No. 2 from opposite side. Repeat to form crisscross. Continue pattern entire length of dough. Join ends to form a ring. Brush with Egg Wash. Cover loosely with plastic wrap. Let rise in warm, draft free place about 45 minutes or until doubled. Bake in 350° oven 25 to 30 minutes or until golden. Drizzle with powdered sugar glaze, if desired. Makes 1 breakfast bread.

Wheat Germ Almond Filling: Crumble 1 (8-ounce) can almond paste. Beat in 1 cup wheat germ, 2 eggs and 1/4 cup EACH butter and sugar.

Egg Wash: Mix together 1 egg and 1 tablespoon milk. Note: Wheat germ with sugar & honey may be substituted for regular.

Flavor with spices

New garb for carrots

There's everything good to be said for carrots. Their year-round availability; reasonable price; texture; attractive color, and rich nutrient content. But, most important of all, their delicious flavor when correctly cooked and imaginatively spiced.

You can use almost any spice, herb, aromatic seed or spice blend with carrots. Slice or dice them and cook in just enough water to keep them from burning. Season, first of all, with salt, pepper and a pinch of sugar. Run your eye the length of your spice shelf and select a special seasoning. Onion is an of-course. Ginger is traditional. High on the list of herbs for carrots are basil, chervil, parsley, chives, mint or tarragon.

Spiced Carrot Pudding
 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder

 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1 1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
 1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 3 cups grated raw carrots
 3/4 cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar
 3 eggs, separated

In a medium bowl combine flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg; set aside. In a medium saucepan melt butter. Blend in carrots, sugar and egg yolks; stir into flour mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into carrot mixture. Pour into a greased and floured 6-cup ring mold. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 F.) until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean, about 45 minutes. Cool in pan on a wire rack for 10 minutes. Unmold. Serve hot. Fill center with hot peas, if desired. Yield: 8 portions.

Ginger Glazed Carrots
 6 large carrots
 2 cups water
 1 teaspoon ground ginger, divided
 3/4 teaspoon salt, divided
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 1/4 cup honey

Peel carrots; cut into 2-inch long by 1/4-inch wide strips. In a medium saucepan combine water, 1/2 teaspoon each of the ginger and the salt. Bring to the boiling point. Add carrots. Return to the boiling point. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, until carrots are almost tender, 8 to 10 minutes; drain. In a medium skillet melt butter. Stir in honey, remaining 1/2 teaspoon ginger and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Add carrots; cook and stir until carrots are tender and glazed, about 8 minutes. Yield: 8 portions.

PUBLIC NOTICE

RESOLUTION AND NOTICE OF INTENTION TO SOLICIT PROPOSALS FOR THE LEASE OF A FIXED BASE OPERATOR FACILITY AT BRACKETT FIELD

Whereas, the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, has found that the public interest and welfare will be served by the solicitation of proposals for the lease of a fixed base operator facility at Brackett Field;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as follows:

1. That it is the intention of the County of Los Angeles, Department of County Engineer, Aviation Division, on the first day of June, 1976, prior to 5:00 p.m., in its offices at 108 West Second Street, Room 709, Los Angeles, California 90012, to receive proposals for the lease of a fixed base operator facility located at Brackett Field, 1615 McKinley Avenue, La Verne, California. The purpose of this Resolution and Notice of Intention is not to solicit formal bids, but to request proposals to operate the facility described above.

2. Selection of the best responsible proposal will be based equally upon the following criteria:

a) Proposer's experience in similar operations.
 b) The financial responsibility of the proposer.
 c) The minimum monthly rental to be paid to the County for the facility.
 d) The percentage of gross receipts to be paid to the County as rent, computed on a calendar quarter basis. A minimum acceptable monthly rental of $75.00 (not including tie-downs) has been determined by an analysis of the rental values of the land and buildings located within the leased area. The minimum acceptable percentage to be proposed is 5 percent for all activities except aircraft sales which is 1/2 of 1 percent, sale of aircraft parts and supplies which is 3 percent, and sale of radio and navigational equipment which is 1 percent.

e) The quality and nature of the services to be provided by the proposer.

3. Said fixed base operator facility shall be used for any or all of the following purposes:

a) Aircraft ground and flight school.
 b) Aircraft charter and rental.
 c) Sale of new and used aircraft.
 d) Radio and navigational equipment sales and service.
 e) Air freight operations.
 f) Operation of vending machines.
 g) Other airport related uses.

4. All aircraft, equipment and utility services necessary for the satisfactory operation of the fixed base operator facility and all necessary supplies will be furnished by the lessee.

5. Lessee and his agents or employees shall at all times comply with and abide by all rules and regulations heretofore adopted by the Board of Supervisors of said County and or the Director of Aviation of Los Angeles County.

6. Lessee shall be open on days and during hours which are customary for fixed base operators in Los Angeles County.

7. County shall provide the premises as shown on the Exhibit "A" in the proposal package.

8. The proposal package will be on file in the offices of the Department of County Engineer, Aviation Division, 108 West Second Street, Room 709, Los Angeles, California 90012, and will be made available to any and all prospective proposers prior to the date set by the Board of Supervisors for the opening of the proposals.

The final lease agreement will contain substantially the same provisions as the Sample Lease Agreement. The Proposal Form and Sample Lease Agreement contain in detail all of the terms and conditions pertaining to the operation of the fixed base operator and all proposers shall be deemed to have notice, constructive or otherwise, of said terms and conditions.

9. Proposers must satisfy themselves by personal examination of the location of the leased area and by such other means as they may prefer as to the conditions and requirements of the operation of the fixed base operator.

10. Qualifications for Lessee of the Fixed Base Operator

a) Lessee must have a minimum of three (3) years' experience as the manager or owner of a fixed base operator or similar business (on an active airport) that provided aircraft ground and flight school and at least one of the following five services:

1. Aircraft maintenance and repair.
 2. Aircraft charter and rental.
 3. Radio and navigational equipment sales and service.
 4. Sale of new and used aircraft.
 5. Air freight operation.

b) Lessee must possess the necessary licenses for the conduct of his business.

c) Lessee must possess the ability to pay the monthly and percentage rent necessary for the operation of a fixed base operation and be able to show that he possesses a good credit record.

d) In the event a corporation is bidding to operate the fixed base operation, said corporation must verify that the person employed as manager of the fixed base operation meets the above listed qualifications to the satisfaction of the Director of Aviation.

11. Each proposer shall furnish the following information with his sealed proposal:

a) Financial Statement A full and detailed presentation of proposer's assets, liabilities and net worth.

b) General Business Statement A statement of all of the important business activities of proposer's major business life, emphasizing proposer's experience in the operation of a fixed base operation.

c) Personal References A minimum of five (5) personal references, giving names, addresses, and telephone numbers in each instance.

d) Credit References A minimum of five (5) credit or financial references giving names, addresses, and telephone numbers in each instance.

e) Experience A full statement of proposer's experience in the operation of a fixed base operation as described in Paragraph 10 above. It is important that this statement be up to the last date of such enterprise.

f) Aircraft and Equipment Inventory A program showing the aircraft and equipment to be used by the Lessee in the proposed fixed base operation.

12. The filing of such statements shall constitute permission, by the proposer, for the County to check, verify and have certified all information contained in such statements. If the County desires, additional information may be requested from the proposer. Failure to comply with any such request may disqualify any proposer from further consideration.

13. Sealed proposals must be filed in the offices of the Department of County Engineer, Aviation Division of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, 108 West Second Street, Room 709, Los Angeles, California 90012. The final acceptance of any proposal may be made at any meeting of the County Board of Supervisors within sixty (60) days after receipt of said proposals as recommended by the Director of Aviation of Los Angeles County or within such longer period as may be deemed reasonable by said Board.

14. No oral proposals will be considered by the Department of County Engineer, Aviation Division. In the event the County accepts any proposal, a lease agreement shall be awarded to the person who submits the best responsible proposal in the sole judgment of the County. The County reserves the right to reject any and all proposals.

15. Each proposal must be accompanied by a cashier's check or a check certified by a responsible bank in the County of Los Angeles, payable to the County of Los Angeles, in the amount of $2,000 as a guarantee. The proposer will execute the Lease Agreement if same is awarded to such proposer. This guarantee will be applied toward, but shall not be considered a limitation upon, any damage which may be sustained by the County if the proposer fails to comply. All unsuccessful proposers will receive a prompt refund of their $2,000 deposit.

The foregoing resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, on the 23rd day of March, 1976.

JAMES S. MIZE,
 Executive Officer
 Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County, and

Apple facts on cold storage

Why do some Controlled Atmosphere and Cold Storage apples seem to taste better than others of the same variety?

You can only get out of storage the quality and conditions you put in. When too much time elapses before harvest or between the time of harvest and time the apples are placed in storage, there may be some loss of flavor and texture of the apple before it gets into storage.

Heat is an enemy of apples, whether freshly harvested or out of cold storage. A properly harvested apple kept at room temperature becomes overripe and mealy after a few days. Apples respire or ripen in cold storage too, but at a slower rate. Thus after several weeks in storage they have fewer prime condition days left than do apples freshly harvested in the fall.

How should apples be stored in the home?

They should be kept in a plastic bag or the hydrator of the refrigerator.

Homemade Barbecue Buns make good picnic sandwiches as well as an accompaniment for hamburgers, hot dogs, fried chicken and luncheon salads. Herbs can be added to the basic mixture to create Onion Celery Seed Barbecue Buns, Parmesan Barbecue Buns or Sesame Seed Garlic Barbecue Buns. The dough for the buns may be made up and frozen until you are ready to use it—up to four weeks later. You mix and knead the dough, then shape it right away without letting it rise, cover it and put in the freezer.

Homemade barbecue make movable feast

With food costs taking a bigger bite out of the family budget there'll be fewer steaks sizzling on the outdoor grill.

But the seasoned cook is finding ways of compensating and homemade bread is winning hands down. Hamburgers and hot dogs, the less expensive standbys become an epicurean treat when tucked into homemade sesame flavored barbecue buns.

Yeast raised buns make a fine contribution for many a summer's meal. They're perfect for picnics and all kinds of movable feasts as a bun offers more crust than crumb, resulting in a respectable sandwich. Split and toasted it makes a fine accompaniment for luncheon salads or breakfast fruits. Seasoned with dill or celery seed, toasted and buttered it's a natural accompaniment for fried chicken or freshly caught fish. Buns can be varied in size and shape as well as flavor to fit any occasion.

When adding herbs and other seasoning to bread recipes test kitchens recommend adding them as well as the active dry yeast to the dry ingredients. This is the method of making bread which eliminates the need to dissolve yeast first in warm water. The dough may be made up and frozen until you are ready to use it—up to four weeks later. You mix and knead the dough, then shape it right away without letting it rise, cover it and put in the freezer.

After the buns are frozen they may be stored in plastic bags in the freezer. Before baking the dough must be allowed to thaw and rise until it's double in bulk. Buns bake in about half the time required for baking loaves of bread.

BARBECUE BUNS

2 cups warm water (105 F.-115 F.)
2 packages active dry yeast
1/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 cup softened margarine
6 to 7 cups unsifted flour

Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add sugar, salt, margarine and 3 cups flour. Beat until smooth. Add enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down, divide into 20 equal pieces. Form each piece into a smooth round ball. Place on greased baking sheets about 2 inches apart; press to flatten. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

If desired brush rolls with a mixture of 1 egg white and 1 tablespoon cold water; sprinkle with sesame or poppy seed.

Bake at 400 F. 15 to 20 minutes, or until don. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks.

Onion Celery Seed Barbecue Buns: Prepare as recipe directs but add 2 teaspoons celery seed to dissolved yeast. After shaping sprinkle 1/2 cup chopped onion over tops of buns pressing onion into dough as buns are flattened.

Parmesan Barbecue Buns: Prepare as recipe directs but add 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese to dissolved yeast. Before baking, brush buns with melted margarine; sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and paprika.

Sesame Seed Garlic Barbecue Buns: Prepare as recipe directs but add 1/2 cup toasted sesame seed and 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder to dissolved yeast. Before baking, brush buns with combined beaten egg white and 1 tablespoon cold water; sprinkle with 1 tablespoon toasted sesame seed.

Try watt-watcher's meat loaf

The thing with Spring is... there are so many things you'd like to be doing, besides cooking! As the crocuses start to burst forth, you suddenly get a burst of enthusiasm for tasks like cleaning the yard, straightening out the garage, putting winter clothes away. But there are still meals to be gotten and that can put the damper on Spring fever.

Two new recipes from the test kitchens in Rochester, N.Y., help create a meal that saves watts... and saves your energy for the things you'd rather be doing!

Watt Watchers Meatloaf can be put together in a jiffy and bakes in the oven while you go about your Springtime chores. The special seasoning comes from an envelope of seasoning mix for sloppy joes. A sprinkling of cheese adds an attractive topping. Wise watt-watchers never heat the oven for just one dish! Springtime Potato Bake browns to luscious goodness right along with your meatloaf. It's also quick and easy to prepare since you start with a package of scalloped potatoes. Chopped broccoli and lemon rind add a colorful and flavorful touch to this potato and vegetable casserole.

Carrot salad, rolls and butter, pineapple sherbet, milk and coffee complete the menu.

Watt Watchers

Meatloaf

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 envelope (1 1/2-oz.) seasoning mix for Sloppy Joes
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 cup shredded Swiss or Cheddar cheese
Beat together egg and tomato juice. Add beef, bread crumbs, contents of seasoning mix envelope, and green pepper; mix well. Pack lightly into loaf pan or shape loaf in shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 400 degrees for 1 hour. 4 to 6 servings.

Springtime

Potato Bake
1 package (5 1/2-oz.) scalloped potatoes
1 package (10-oz.) frozen chopped broccoli, thawed
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Prepare potatoes as directed on package, except increase water to 2 2/3 cups and use 2-quarter casserole. Stir in broccoli and lemon rind. Bake at 400 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes, until potatoes are tender. 5 to 6 servings.

Cold look at vitamin controversy

I have a severe cold. The number of suggestions I get to cure or ease the suffering is astounding. Eat less. Eat more. Don't eat hardly anything. But by far the greatest number talked about vitamin C and my cold.

So I reviewed many articles on vitamin C and colds, shook my head in doubt, and went right on with my regular morning six ounces of orange juice. Result? I feel no better, no worse.

That is the bottom line. What I need is scientific judgment. Everyone has his own answer to the question: is vitamin C really good for colds. You'll get millions of answers from concerned laymen. You'll get many answers, too, from scientists. But they will be based on careful research, testing and other scientific checks. The basic difference will be that the scientific based answers will not be final. Those emotionally conceived will be 100 per cent absolutely final. So don't rely on them. Go along with the scientists.

The medical board of "Consumer Reports," under the pressure of cold-warrior readers, made a careful review of the subject.

"Consumer Reports" thus stated: "based on the Toronto studies, the results suggested that the large daily doses of vitamin C might be largely superfluous for people with colds.

Pending further reliable studies (the conclusions of the Toronto study have not yet been confirmed), if you feel that the slight effect of vitamin C on your cold is desirable, why not include in your regular diet some foods that are high in vitamin C such as these foods recommended by the Department of Agriculture.

Broccoli, 1 medium stalk - 162 (mg) vitamin C; Potatoes, 1 medium - 20 (mg); Orange Juice, 6 ounces - 93 (mg); Strawberries, 1 cup - 88 (mg); Brussels sprouts, 1 cup (7 or 8 sprouts) - 135 (mg); and Cantaloupe, half melon - 63 (mg).
